the only exhibition for wood products, materials & technology

profile

04-07.04.2024

The international exhibition of wood products, materials and technology is held every two years in compliance to European standards at the international exhibition centre Metropolitan Expo.

Medwood is the ideal field for every professional who wants to present the new trends in the wood products and furniture sector to a wide and targeted audience.

It is an international platform for direct communication between companies, on trends in wood products, materials and technology related to furniture design, architecture and bioclimatic design as well as new trends in construction techniques with wood.

The high quality exhibitors and its size highlights Medwood as the biggest exhibition event not only for Greece but also for the wider Balkan region.

why medwood?

Medwood is firmly established as the only industry exhibition in the wood products, materials and technology sector. It is the exhibition with the greatest business efficiency, bringing together the professional audience of the wood products and furniture industry and focusing on the exchange of innovative ideas, while at the same time being a channel of dialogue between architects, designers, decorators and the world of materials.

Furthermore, every professional who decides to take part in Medwood, will benefit from the high level of organisation, the high level of attendance and the quality of its visitors.

In addition to the above, Medwood supports its exhibitors through a broad communication programme, with multi-faceted and proactive advertising in major media outlets.

Metropolitan Expo

Metropolitan Expo is located at "Athens International Airport Eleftherios Venizelos" and is an important hub in Greece, with high quality services and infrastructure. Access is easy with a range of transport options from the underground railway system (Metro) and buses, to airplanes and cars.

It is located at the end of Attiki Odos towards the Airport, just 2 km after its buildings and a few minutes from the Metro and Suburban Railway station, with which it is connected by regular internal passenger transport (exhibition centre buses). It also has easy and quick access for visitors from outside the Attica basin, through the connection of the National Roads with the Attiki Odos.

Finally, its location makes it an ideal destination to travel by airplane (distant regions and foreign visitors).
